HELEN GATES CLEAR ON VALUES. Got $2 on Diamond Brooch Which Accuser

Said Was Worth $100-Held for Trial. Mrs. Helen Gates, whose desire for skating has figured in many of her troubles that have ended in the police courts, sniffed contemptuously yesterday in the West Side court when Max Honig, who accuses her of taking $245 worth of stuff from him, said that a diamond brooch was worth $100.

"If any one exaggerates, it's him, Judge," she said. "I got $2 on the brooch when I pawned it and you can tell from that what it is worth."

Mrs. Helen hired a room from Honig at after a scrap with her husband. She stayed a day and a night and then disappeared. One of the things that disappeared with her was a changeable silk admit to what I took," she said. But I took no silk skirt or lace curtains. I don't know anything about them things."

She pleaded guilty and Magistrate Cornell held her in $1,000 for trial.

H. E. Decker Dies in Elevated Station. Henry E. Decker, a director of the Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Company, died suddenly shortly after midnight yesterday morning. He had boarded a downtown train of the Fulton street elevated railroad at East New York and was taken ill just before the train reached the Flatbush avenue station. He was assisted to the platform of the station, where he died. His body was removed to his home, 171 East Sixty-fourth street, Manhattan.

The Realty Auction Market. The Realty Auction Market.

Nothing of interest transpired in the Vesey street auction room last week. Sales were few in number and of minor importance. A majority of the properties were bought by parties in interest. The most important offering of the week was that of the six story factory at No. 539 to 545 West Thirty-fourth street, running through to Thirty-fifth street, near Eleventh avenue. It brought $165,000.

The present week will be another quiet period in the auction market, sales being scheduled for only three days. Flats and tenements on the East Side and vacant property in The Bronx make up the greater part of the list. The only exceptions are a couple of brownstone dwellings in West Washington place and a block of eight private houses in Eighty-second street, near Third avenue.
